About Kedarkantha Trek:

Kedarkantha (also referred as Kedarkanta) Peak (3820m) is situated in Govind National Park of Western Garhwal. Surrounding Tons river valley, with remote villages, snow capped mountain ranges in the horizon, and rich flora and fauna of the national park makes the short and easy walk to the Kedarkantha peak a enjoyable hiking experience. In clear weather, the renowned peaks like, Swargarohini, Bandarpooch, Black Peak can be seen from the summit. The panorama or far stretched ridgelines are a delight to watch. In winter or spring, the trail remains covered with fresh snow. Snow patches amidst giant pine forest and snow covered meadows, in altitude as low as 10,000ft, even in late April, makes this trek a unique one.

Access to Sankri (The trek base):

Depending upon the trek members we can arrange a pickup and drop from Dehradun to Sankri and back. This will be shared equally by the team members and is approximately 6000 Rs one way. One such Jeep can accommodate 6 to 8 people.

Dehradun is well connected by train with New Delhi/ Kolkata. Overnight buses are also available from New Delhi Kashmiri Gate ISBT and takes 6 to 7 hours. The nearest airport is Jolly Grant, about 20km away from the city.

If any trekker wants to reach Sankri by public transport,

1) There are 2/3 privately operated bus services from Dehradun (near DDN railway station on Gandhi road) to Sankri. The 200 Km journey will take around 10/12 hours. The buses start at 5:30/6/7 am.

2) While returning from Sankri take the morning bus to Dehradun/Vikasnagar and reach by 7 pm to DDN.
